Father Chuck's Challenge

Last weekend at all of our Masses, Father Charles Kennedy spoke as a Representative of Father Chuck's Challenge, in conjunction with the Pontifical Mission Society's Annual Appeal. This initiative celebrates the memory and ministry of Father Chuck Pfeffer, a deceased beloved priest of the Archdiocese.

Over the last nine years, with lots of help from the Holy Spirit, and from donors, including parishioners from Saint Basil the Great to Father Chuck's Challenge, we have provided more than 1,100 homes for over 7,000 desperately poor beneficiaries, previously living fearfully, virtually homeless, in plastic and plank shelters, in an area frequently ravished by tropical storms in the Northern Highlands of Nicaragua and in Haiti; but hundreds more need help of all kinds!!

"Whatever you do for the least of my brothers, you do unto Me." (Mt 25:40)

Give a St. Philip Neri Memorial Gift!

For a donation of $35 or more, there is a beautiful Folder recording the gift and donor to be presented to the family.

We also have Living Memorials for those special occasions in life.

RITE of CHRISTIAN INITIATION of ADULTS

The RCIA is in the process which the Catholic Church employs to educate and initiate all new adult members into the Catholic Community.

If you or someone you know would be interested in exploring the possibility of becoming a member of the Catholic Church, you or they would need to participate in this process. In addition, the RCIA is also designed to bring persons who were baptized Catholic, but never finished their Sacraments into full Communion with the Church.

We will begin our Sessions in mid September and run through Easter of 2017. If you are interested in exploring this possibility, please contact Deacon Mike Franks to set up an appointment. Keep watching the Bulletin for further information as it becomes available.

You can reach Deacon Mike by leaving a message with the Rectory Office at: 215.679.9275.

TWENTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Seen any “undeserving poor” lately?

In George Bernard Shaw’s play Pygmalion, ne’er-do-well Alfred P. Doolittle laments, “It’s always the same story: ‘You’re undeserving; so you can’t have it.’ But my needs is as great as the most deserving widow’s that ever got money out of six different charities in one week for the death of the same husband. I don’t need less than a deserving man: I need more.” Compassion is not compassion if it has to be “deserved.” A Christian owes mercy and leaves the judgment to God. Is there a person, ethnic group, or race you think undeserving? Then you’re not thinking like Jesus.

TODAY’S READINGS: Jeremiah 38:4-6, 8-10; Hebrews 12:1-4; Luke 12:49-53 (120).
“Persevere in running the race, while keeping your eyes fixed on Jesus.”

MONDAY, AUGUST 15

SOLEMNITY OF THE ASSUMPTION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

Crowned in heaven, her feet firmly on earth

As with the feast of the Lord’s Ascension, Mary being taken to heaven evokes the image of heaven being up. But Mary’s glory derives from her life on earth: her faith, her trust in God even when confused, her love for her son, her compassion for embarrassed wedding hosts, the horror of seeing her son crucified. Mary had her feet firmly on the good earth, where we live. When we “Hail” her, she responds, “Do whatever my son tells you,” and when we do so, to paraphrase her son’s Sermon on the Mount, our “reward in heaven will be great.”

TODAY’S READINGS: Vigil: 1 Chronicles 15:3-4, 15-16; 16:1-2; 1 Corinthians 15:54b-57; Luke 11:27-28 (621); Day: Revelation 11:19a; 12:1-6a, 10ab; 1 Corinthians 15:20-27; Luke 1:39-56 (622). “Now have salvation and power come, and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Anointed One.”

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16

MEMORIAL OF STEPHEN OF HUNGARY

God works through imperfect vessels

Stephen of Hungary may be a saint, but he was no angel. He was good to the church, it is true, firmly establishing the faith in modern-day Hungary a millennium ago. However, the age was one of warfare, and Stephen engaged in his fair share of it. Once he had eliminated his competition, he did usher in an era of relative peace, and Hungary became a preferred route for pilgrims traveling between Europe and the Holy Land. Each age has its accomplishments—and its sins. Do the best you can to leave a legacy of good works.

TODAY’S READINGS: Ezekiel 28:1-10; Matthew 19:23-30 (420). “It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God.”

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 17

Where charity ends

“Charity begins at home.” Few of us doubt the wisdom and the primary duty of taking care of our families, neighborhoods, and communities. But for many, the obligation of charity can often appear to end at home as well. We may be reluctant to put our funds at the disposal of another needy parish, or to assist someone else’s family with our limited resources. But what if we took seriously the human family as genuine sisters and brothers? When home and family are expansive notions, then charity at home goes a long, long way.

TODAY’S READINGS: Ezekiel 34:1-11;

Matthew 20:1-16 (421). “Woe to the shepherds of Israel who have been pasturing themselves! Should not shepherds, rather, pasture sheep?”

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18

For the love of money

It doesn’t take a spiritual genius to know that, as the Beatles put it, “money can’t buy me love.” Pope Francis uses his most moving appeals to divert a consumer-obsessed world from its vain pursuits: “Do not fall into the terrible trap of thinking that life depends on money and that, in comparison with money, anything else is devoid of value or dignity. This is nothing but an illusion! We cannot take money with us into the life beyond. Money does not bring us happiness.” Do your choices today prove that you want the kind of things that money just can’t buy?

TODAY’S READINGS: Ezekiel 36:23-28;

Matthew 22:1-14 (422). “I will give you a new heart and place a new spirit within you.”

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19

MEMORIAL OF JOHN EUDES, PRIEST

Embarrassed into holiness

John Eudes was drawn to many kinds of service: some conventional, such as improving seminary education, and some less so, such as easing the dire needs of prostitutes. But he needed a little prodding. Madeleine Lamy, who had cared for several such women, one day challenged him to address the problem. “Where are you off to now, John? To some church, I suppose, where you’ll gaze at the images and think yourself pious. And all the time what is really wanted of you is a decent house for these poor creatures.” Red-faced but inspired, he began a religious community to meet those needs. Sometimes we have to be embarrassed into holiness!

TODAY’S READINGS: Ezekiel 37:1-14;

Matthew 22:34-40 (423). “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

SATURDAY, AUGUST 20

MEMORIAL OF BERNARD, ABBOT, DOCTOR OF THE CHURCH

Creation is our teacher

Saint Bernard once said, “What I know of the divine sciences and the Holy Scriptures, I have learned in woods and fields.” A year ago, the Catholic Church announced that it would join the Orthodox Church on September 1 each year for World Day of Prayer for the Care of Creation, a day to contemplate God in the beauty of creation. On this Saturday in August, make some time to contemplate God’s creation and be with God in nature.

TODAY’S READINGS: Ezekiel 43:1-7a;

Matthew 23:1-12 (424). “The greatest among you must be your servant.”

FROM THE DESK OF SISTER PATRICIA KELLY, M.S.B.T.

Part I:

In the May 23 & 30 issue of America Magazine, Most Reverend Richard E. Pates, Bishop of the Diocese of Des Moines, Iowa, writes about being the only American at a gathering of Catholic Bishops in Lisbon, Portugal. The name of the article is: "Values and Voting". (Part I) Excerpts from it follow.

Bishop Pates tells us how some of the other bishops were astounded at the tenor of our political discourse. Had Americans not heard of Pope Francis? What did we think he means when he affirms, "We are one human family. We are all brothers and sisters?"

Americans are called to integrate our values and beliefs into the political process in a manner that reflects what best serves humanity. But our convictions do not find a readily comfortable home in either major party. We must engage. But how?

Pope Francis has emphasized three principal dimensions of our life together that must be addressed if we are to be concerned about human life and living our Gospel values: creation, peace and economy.

1. Creation: "The common home of all men and women must continue to rise on the foundations of right understanding of universal fraternity and respect for the sacredness of every human life; of every man and every woman, the poor, the elderly, children, the infirm, the unborn, the unemployed, the abandonees, those considered disposable because they are only considered as part of a statistic. This common home of all men and women must also be built on the understanding of a certain sacredness of human nature".

Pope Francis focused global attention on the environment with his encyclical, "Laudato Si" (On Care for our Common Home). It is a clarion call for universal action to reverse ailing Mother Nature's health condition. Evidence abounds: pollution and waste, widespread experience of radical climate variation, reduction of safe water and loss of biodiversity. More distressing is the impact of human life - where the poor suffer intolerably and unrelenting.

At the heart of this environmental disruption is climate change, and the scientific consensus is that it's for real. The Pope asserts that this change, with its destructive results is caused by human action.

"Environmental Conversion" is required, preserving that which gives life: air, water, fertile soil. We can do so by being responsible in our own situation, but also by advocating policies that characterize us as grateful "stewards", so that all God created so lovingly, thrives.

We are called to be attentive to the three billion people who are suffering and left behind in a proportionate sharing of God's providence. They represent what Pope Francis terms the "throwaway culture". One of the ways their lives can be enhanced is by revering the suffering emanating from environmental degradation. We must also provide future generations with a home that will be habitable, preserving the wonder of God's goodness. At the White House last year, Pope Francis said: "Accepting the urgency, it seems clear to me, also, that dramatic change is a problem that no longer can be left to a future generation. When it comes to the care of our common home, we are living in a critical moment of history

Individual action in climate change needs to evolve to embrace political consensus. That is where programs will be achieved for the common good. As Pope Francis insists, "unless citizens control power - national, regional and municipal - it will not be possible to control damage to the environment".

The Vatican has intervened on the international level, advocating at the Paris Conference for the Environment. In doing so, it emphasizes that all the world needs to be on the same page and committed to those policies and actions intended for the beneficial global outcomes of all.
